These are a statutory minimum and further functions can be given to the boards in line with local circumstances. The statutory functions are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To prepare Joint Strategic Needs Assessments (JSNAs) and Joint Health and Wellbeing Strategies (JHWSs), which is a duty of local authorities and clinical commissioning groups (CCGs). • A duty to encourage integrated working between health and social care commissioners, including providing advice, assistance or other support to encourage arrangements under section 75 of the National Health Service Act 2006 (i.e. lead commissioning, pooled budgets and/or integrated provision) in connection with the provision of health and social care services. • A power to encourage close working between commissioners of health-related services and the board itself. • A power to encourage close working between commissioners of health-related services (such as housing and many other local government services) and commissioners of health and social care services. • Any other functions that may be delegated by the council under section 196(2) of the Health and Social Care Act 2012. Health and Well-Being Board (continued)		2. Regulations relating to Health & Well Being Boards: Statutory Instrument 2013 No. 218 The regulations relating to health and wellbeing boards have been published as Statutory Instrument 2013 No. 218 entitled, The Local Authority (Public Health, Health and Wellbeing Boards and Health Scrutiny) Regulations 2013 http://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukSI/2013/218/ contents/made The regulations modify certain legislation as it applies to health and wellbeing boards and disapply certain legislation in relation to the boards. The provisions which are modified or disapplied are in the Local Government Act 1972 and the Local Government and Housing Act 1989. Under section 194 of the Health and Social Care Act 2012, a health and wellbeing board is a committee of the council which established it and for the purposes of any enactment is to be treated as if appointed under section 102 of the Local Government Act 1972. It is therefore a 'section 102 committee', as it is sometimes called within local government. However, the regulations modify and disapply certain provisions of section 102 and other sections of the Local Government Act 1972 and also provisions of the Local Government and Housing Act 1989 in relation to health and wellbeing boards. This means that it is best not to think of health and wellbeing boards according to the strict model of other section 102 committees, but to think of them as a basic section 102 committee with some differences. The sections below discuss the characteristics shared by health and wellbeing boards with other council committees and where they do or may diverge under the new regulations. The modifications and disapplications which apply to health and wellbeing boards within the regulations generally also apply to subcommittees and joint sub-committees of boards. 3. Membership of Health & Well Being Boards The Health and Social Care Act 2012 indicates that health and wellbeing boards are different to other section 102 committees, in particular in relation to the appointment of members. Specifically, the Act: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • sets a core membership that health and wellbeing boards must include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • at least one councillor from the relevant council • the director of adult social services • the director of children's services • the director of public health
