As you may know, our company began its operations on the Carrington Site in 1949. Since the term of our tenancy of the Site has over 100 years left to run, it is anticipated that our polypropylene plant will continue its operations on the Site for a long time into the future. Any development of the local area around the Site must reflect and be cognisant of that fact. We further note that our business has, since commencement of its operations in Carrington, generated employment opportunities and brought related economic benefit to the region. We trust that any planned development in proximity to the Site will be in strict compliance with applicable HSE legislation, regulations and guidance, including COMAH. We would be happy to engage further with you as the Consultation process progresses.
